TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

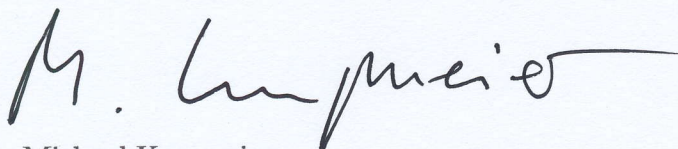

As a private Art Collector and Director of a Private Heritage Foundation, I had approached Mr. Miguel Lombardo Founder Director and Chief Curator of CASASOLA early 2014 to seek his advice and proposals regarding the professional presentation of a substantial photographic negatives collection covering the years 1940-75 in cuba.

Mr. Lombardo subsequently arranged to build and manage the project, which strongly contributed to protect and augment the potential of the legacy of this historical art material and its creator, a well-known cuban photographer.

In addition, Mr. Lombardo succeeded in communicating and raising the awareness of the field of photography among the many visitors and scholars that visited various exhibits during the last 2-3 years. As a non-profit exhibition space, dedicated to research, exhibitions and education, CASASOLA's educational objectives were fully achieved through out multi-sensorial experiential that have been fully appreciated by the local community and international visitors alike.

Please feel free to contact me if you require any further information.

Sincerely yours,
